The fast and simple way to ISO 27001 Certification

What is ISO 27001?

Information and data are the lifeblood of all organisations. In today's increasingly competitive business environment, such information is constantly open to threat from many sources. These can be internal, such as database theft by an unscrupulous employee; external, such as conflicts between incompatible software; accidental, such as forgetting to back up computer systems and the data stored on them; or malicious, such as threats by viruses or hackers.

The solution is ISO 27001

Organisations need to ensure the confidentiality, integrity and availability of vital corporate and customer systems and data. An Information Security Management System (ISMS) is a systematic approach to managing and protecting the security of computer systems and the sensitive information stored on them. Adopted in 1998, ISO 27001 is the internationally recognised standard setting out the requirements for an ISMS.

What ISO 27001 can do for your organisation

The major benefit that ISO 27001 brings to most organisations is a significant competitive edge over their competitors. Customers will recognise that you manage and minimise the range of threats to which their and your information are regularly subjected.

ISO 27001 in 45 days? How?

QMS has developed an original approach to ISO 27001 Certification by effectively eliminating the need for you to employ a Consultant.

Our method combines the task of preparing the required documentation and undertaking the Assessment at the same time. As with our successful approach to other management related standards, we have brought the one-stop shop concept to ISO 27001.

This means that we can:

- ✓ Reduce the time taken to obtain Certification
- ✓ Cut the cost of Certification
- ✓ Eliminate red tape and bureaucracy
- ✓ Reduce management time required
- ✓ Reduce the cost of maintaining Certification

The QMS Service

Our Assessor examines the activities of your organisation that directly affect the security of the information that you hold. An Information Security Policy together with whatever subsidiary policies are required are agreed and implemented by the formulation of an Information Security Management System. This will include our recommendations for rectifying any areas of non-compliance.

Because of our "Keep it simple" approach, this normally takes between three and four days. We then prepare an ISMS Manual setting out your Information Security Management System.

On the successful completion of this exercise, we issue a ISO 27001 Certificate and include your organisation on the QMS Register. An annual external audit is required to maintain your ISO 27001 certification.

What our clients say:

"Throughout the certification process I have found all of your staff very professional and totally committed in providing very high quality customer service. If any of my business colleagues require ISO certification, I would certainly recommend your Company to them."

Stephen K Ralph, Managing Director - Elite Investigations Limited.

"Our conversion rate from initial enquiry to actual contract status has increased by at least 50% since you helped us".

Geoff Howard, Partner - Security 2000DJS.

"Our last experience with a QA Consultant (about 10 years ago) cost us £20,000, over three solid mind-numbing weeks of management time, all to produce a completely unusable door stop! QMS by contrast, gave us a refreshingly simple service that produced a QAM that actually works at a fraction of the cost."

Gerald Tobias, Group Managing Director - GTA Consulting

"Would highly recommend any business attempting accreditation to use services of QMS and will duly pass my comments to business friends etc on the commitment and assistance of QMS."

Peter McGill, Director - PTM Limited.
